

Jamie Goulet is a passionate entrepreneur and an independent forward thinker particularly on innovative and healing concepts having to do with the empowerment and reverence for Indigenous Women.

For the past 18 years Jamie Goulet was the owner - operator of Grandmother Moon Lodge an Indigenous Women's Land Based Healing and Educational Village based out of St. Laurent Manitoba Canada. The programming and spiritual gatherings were developed with integral principles based on Indigenous matrilineal concepts using these methodologies to reawaken our purpose as Indigenous women and girls whom for too long continue to suffer from systemic intergenerational trauma.

Jamie was responsible for overseeing the development of Grandmother Moon Lodge designing the buildings and programming, she had one goal in mind that being; the women and girls attending our facility would not be subjected to the insensitive manners that have become a standard through out western dominant values of healing. Her task became to create a space that was completely void of any institutional harm that would impair our women and girls from moving forward in their healing journeys. This included developing physical sensory and auditory ways of healing based on Indigenous Earth Spirituality. The physical spatial design throughout the buildings on site came alive with colour including natural freeing elements at every corner. She also included unmeasurable values of healing through therapies based on Ancestral traditional knowledge. Elder Mae Louise Campbell from Grandmother Moon Lodge has quoted a statement that Jamie consistently speaks to: "We are the ones that carry blood memory of Indigenous Cultural intelligence this is our home and land we can not wait for anyone else to do what we know has to be done for change moving forward into the 21st century."

Jamie is now involved with community members and Elders in developing a large scale sustainable ,eco centred healing and educational village. Clan Mothers Healing Village and Knowledge Centre will be located on 130 acres of land north of Winnipeg Manitoba Canada. This Village will be a multifaceted healing village for sexually exploited and trafficked women. They will be the heart of the village concept. This Village will be surrounding by social enterprise ventures that will help our women access training , education and employment .

Jamie is Ojibwa - Metis: An artist in many mediums , drum carrier, pipe carrier , and lodge leader she credits all she has learned traditionally from her Aunties; Maggie Richard ,Florence Flamand, Madeline Campbell and mostly the youngest one of the Clan her Mother Elder Mae Louise Campbell.It was these courageous Matriarchs who through hard knocks taught me that western education will get you a degree but as they would say; “My girl learn the deep values of our ancestors be strong go to our Earth Mother she will replenish you in hard times learn to befriend criticism it will blow over you if you walk and learn the deepest teachings from the Beauty of our Red Road Ways.
